DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-3, 32-65, 72 and 74 drawn to a class of organic compounds of the general category thiosemicarbazone; classified in class 552, subclass 517.
- II. Claims 4-31, 66-71, and 73 drawn to methods of use of invention I as adjuvant, immunostimulant or antiviral therapeutic, classified in class 552, subclass 517.

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, various materials in addition to the claimed compounds and compositions have been used as adjuvants and/or immunostimulatory therapeutics. For example, McNeela and Mills recently reviewed such material; their list includes: microparticles, chitosan, monophosphoryl lipid A, saponin-lipid vesicles, CpG motifs of bacterial DNA, and cytokines. Thus, the other materials may function in lieu of the claimed invention. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

No matter which group is elected, a further election of species is required.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: Claim 1 is generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species: Thiosemicarbazones of the general formulae I (claim 2), II (claims 6), III (claim 32), IV (claim 40), V (claim 51), claim VI (claim 54), VII (claim 56), VIII (claim 58), IX (claim 63) as well as the members of the group diagramed in claim 74. The species are independent or distinct because the synthesis of each genus requires different reagents, synthetic steps and purification methods. Additionally, it is expected that each species will have different physical properties such as boiling point, melting points, solubility in water or other pharmacologically acceptable solvent, pharmacological disposition and virological effect. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species with all variables defined, even though this requirement is traversed. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
